

Stall Stories on Social Media

August 2022: We're In This Together

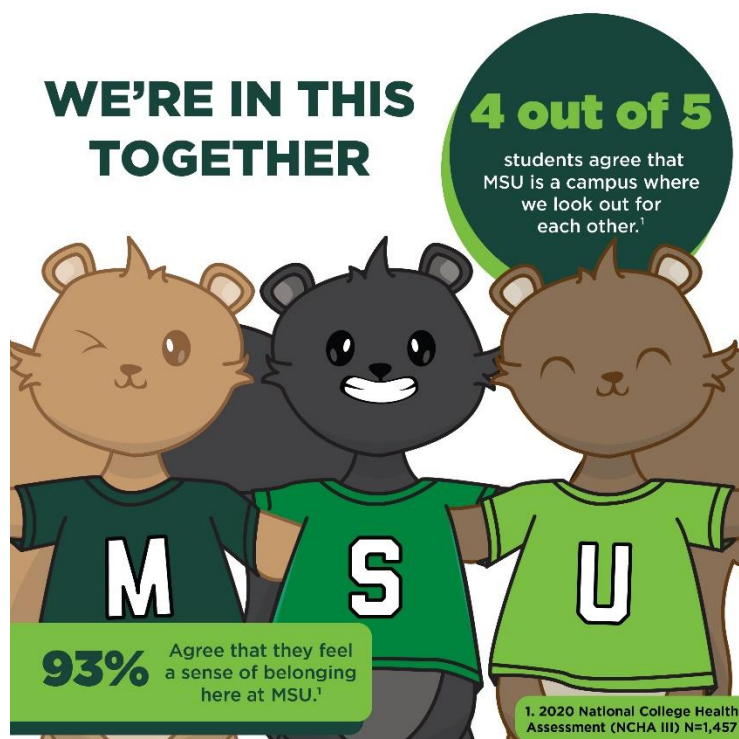

The Health Promotion team is proud to share our favorite squirrels! Thanks to our partners in Student Life and Engagement, we share important health data and tips in residence hall bathroom stalls around campus. If you would like to share the information on social media, please tag @HealthySpartans on Instagram, Twitter and Facebook so we can share the love!

Need some help with captions? Try these!

Instagram

At MSU, we're all in this together and we look out for each other. If you're a student looking for ways to connect with others, try joining a registered student organization, talking to your RA about campus resources that might be helpful for you or challenging yourself to make a friend in each class.

Looking for more tips for finding connections and staying healthy? Check out all that @HealthySpartans has to offer to support your mental and physical health!

Twitter

At MSU, we look out for each other. See what Spartan students say about their sense of belonging — and tips from the @HealthySpartans team on making connections with others:
healthpromotion.msu.edu/toolkits/stallstories

WE'RE IN THIS TOGETHER

